Team Races interesting.

The team races were interesting. West End winning easily, with 111 out of 125; East End was second, with 102.

The last event on the programme, ten pairs doubles for the champlonship of Virginia, was the most exciting as well as interesting. Messrs. E. M. Daniel, of Lynchburg, son of Senator John W. Daniel, and J. A. Anderson, of the local club, tied on 15 out of 20. In the first shoot off of five pairs they were still tied on 7. The next five pairs Daniel won by one bird. Daniel very generously gave this prize, a 5 meat ticket, donated by the Commercial Hotel, to Anderson. Daniel taking second prize, a box of cigars. Daniel shot Winchester shells and L. & R. powder. Anderson shot Dupont powder in Peters shells.

The shoot was ably managed by J. A. Anderson, assisted by V. Hechler and E. H. Storr. Mr. R. F. Banks and H. C. Boudar very ably received the money and compiled the scores.

To Be Established in Connection Columbia University at New York. Advisory Board Nominated by Donor Are Distinguished.

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, August 15 .- Joseph Pulit zer has provided the sum of $2,000,000 to establish a school of journalism at Columbia University, this city. A new building for the school will be erected on Morningside Heights at a cost of $500,-000 for the school, w hich will hold toward the university a relation similar to that of the other professonal schools, as the law school, the school of medicine and be national in scope.

An important feature of the organiza tion of this school will be an advisory This board will aid in the devising of a plan and course of instruction that will meet every requirement on the scholastic as well as upon the more strictly prac the cultivation of their aptitudes, may find in these courses a valuable assistance.

Seven members of this Advisory Board already been designated by the donor, and with others to be selected hereafter, will be nominated to the trustees of Columbia University at their meeting in October. They are Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia ex-officio; Hon. Whitelaw Hon. John Hay, Secretary of State; Hon. St. Clair McKelway, Hon. Andrew D. White, Victor F. Lawson, of Chicago; General Charles H. Taylor, S. R., of Bos-ton; Charles W. Ellot, president of Harvard University.

"At the time of the last census there were in the United States 114,073 lawyers and 30,008 persons classed as journalists. The legal profession was provided with trained recruits by 100 law schools, with 1,106 professors and instructors. For a fair proportion there should have been at least twenty-six colleges of journalism, with faculties 201 strong. There was not one. Not a single one of the 30,098 of the newspaper men and women in the country had enjoyed what a lawyer would call a systematic professional training.

"It is hoped and believed that the school of journalism will just this profession upon a level with others in supplying a definite educational course for students and in affording the newspapers an opportunity to recruit their staff from men adequately trained.

"The building for the school will probably be completed by the autumn of 1004, and it is hoped that the school may be opened soon after. The course of study will be two years. Candidates will be admitted upon an examination as to good character and intellgence, but previous collegiate courses will not be required."

President Ellot has prepared a scheme newspaper administration, newspaper manufactures, the laws and ethics of journalism, history of journalism and of instruction which provides courses in literary form of newspaper.

President Buller, of Columbia University, to-day made the official announcement of Mr. Pulltzer's gift. He says $1,000,000 have been given for the School of Journalism, to be followed by another million if the school is in successful ongestion at the end of three year.

CONVENTION IN MONTGOMERY

Phlegar Endorsed for State Senate

Philegar Endorsed for State Senate
Amid Enthusiasm.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CHRISTIANSBURG, VA., Aug. 15.—
The Democrats held District Convention in Montgomery county to-day for the purpose of nominating candidates for district offices and electing delegates to County Convention, which meets here next Saturday to nominate candidates for the county offices and for the House of Delegates. The convention here was largely attended and harmonious. Colonel Sidney Shellman was chairman and R. C. Woolwine secretary. A ringing resolution was unanimously adopted by the convention amid the wildest enthusiasm endorsing the candidacy of Judge Archer A. Philegar for the Senate. The Democrats of this county are strongly opposed to the primary plan of nominating candidates, as they claim it will result in disorganizing the party. The Republicans have called a mass-meeting for next court day, the 55th, to nominate their candidates for the county and district offices and members of the House of Delegates, after which a spirited campaign will be wage?
